In January 2018, the Trump administration proposed a new offshore oil drilling plan that would open up nearly all U.S. waters to offshore oil drilling, including the coast of California. This plan threatens our coastal ecosystems, economies, and way of life.

Join us for Shore Stories, six short films that highlight the grassroots resistance taking place across the US, as well as stories from past oil and gas exploration - including the BP Deepwater Horizon disaster.

Join us to stand together to protect the coast, and learn how we can keep up the fight to say NO to offshore drilling!
